Better Keep Doors And Cars Locked

It is now more than a week ago that a bunch of homes were entered in Hamlin. But by now the mystery seems to be solved.

It was on Wednesday night that at least three places were entered. One of them was the home of Rev. Harrell, pastor of the Methodist church. Now when thieves take a preacher's pants, they are heartless. Not only did they take his pants, but his coat as well. . . now there is another angle. Pinky Fitzgerald's home was entered and every drawer in the house ransacked but nothing was taken, except food from the Frigidaire. But Pinky found a coat and kept quiet, thinking through the coat he would catch up with the house-breakers. Low and behold he began to hear that the pastor had lost his coat, and Pinky began walling his eyes with wonder. . . but finally he learned that the minister was a victim and did not leave his coat in Pinky's house.

The culprits took a car from the W. L. Boyd home, and the next day it was located at Rotan much battered for the short run.

Later it was learned that a car was stolen in Sweetwater and the police jumped some boys and caused them to scatter after some shots were fired. Then one was arrested near Roscoe, and it seems fairly well established that three youths escaped from the Gatesville School for Boys. Maybe they should have the credit for the several jobs between there and where they were caught.

Storage Batteries Restricted

In a move designed to save millions of pounds of primary and secondary lead and substantial amounts of secondary antimony for war production, WPB has issued order L-180, which will limit production of storage batteries to the number necessary for replacement in passenger cars, trucks and other vehicles during the remainder of this year.

From Office of War Information

Deeply Grateful

We take this method to thank our neighbors and friends, some who have been our associates for most of the time during the past forty years, for their extreme kindness and patience and many expressions of love toward our beloved brother during his lifetime and in the trying hours of illness and death. Your hearts and actions proved true to the traditions of pioneers and for this we feel truly grateful to each and every one, and may the Lord bless you all.

Women May Enter School for WAVES

New Orleans, Sept. 11—The extensive program for obtaining enlisted personnel for the Women's Reserve of the U. S. Navy began today as headquarters of Naval Officer Procurement in New Orleans and branch offices in the Eighth Naval District prepared to accept applications for Class V-10, the District Public Relations office announced.

This program is designed to procure the enlisted personnel for the "Waves" to take over work being done in naval shore establishments thereby releasing men for sea duty.

At present the procurement offices are seeking yeomen, store keepers, and radio operators, but all women with any specialized civilian training, particularly technical training, are urged to make applications. It is pointed out that work in numerous fields is considered acceptable for the three groups for which enlistments are now being sought. For radio operators past experience in radio repair work, licensed amateur broadcasting, typing, simplex and multiplex transmitting machine operating will be helpful in qualifying. For storekeeper work as accountant or bookkeeper, warehouse, freight or stock clerk is of the type needed, and for yeoman previous experience as secretary, typist, stenographer, and duplicating machine operator are among the fields that qualify women.

The office of procurement in the Eighth Naval district plans to enlist 110 women by October 6 and then about 100 each month. Applicants are directed to first submit their qualifications in writing to the Office of Naval Officer Procurement in New Orleans or one of the branches, in Birmingham, Nashville, Houston, Dallas or Oklahoma City. If after submitting a written application a personal interview is desired by the Navy officials the applicant will be so advised.

Requirements for enlisted personnel are that the woman be not less than 20 and under 36, have no children under 18 years of age, be a high school or college graduate, and be able to submit evidence of occupation after attending school, and pass the physical examination.

Accepted applicants will be enlisted as Apprentice Seamen and sent to a university for training and instruction. Advancement to higher non-commissioned ratings will depend on the demonstrated ability of recruits to fulfill the requirements for higher rank in appropriate classifications. No applicant enlisted is assured of any rating above Apprentice Seaman and advancement is on merit.

Pay allowances are the same as for enlisted men in the Navy of the same pay grades.

Schools for those enlisted in the first quota will open October 9 at the University of Wisconsin, Indiana University, and Oklahoma A. & M. Additional schools will be opened as the program advances.

Dr. C. E. Evans and Mrs. Evans of San Marcos came for a week's visit with their sister, Mrs. Dave Harris in the Abbie community. This is a portion of a number of visits with relatives over the state during the time he is taking off from the San Marcos Teachers College. And right here let us tell you Dr. Evans has recently retired as president of the College after a period of 31 years. Dr. Evans started his educational career in Anson. That was in 1895. Mr. Evans is not an old man yet. He has a wonderful spirit of cheerfulness and outlook on life. He will continue to reside in San Marcos and do some teaching.

Girl Without Arms At The High School Tuesday Afternoon

One of the wonders of the world entertained the High school body in the auditorium Tuesday afternoon from 3:00 to 3:45 o'clock.

The entertainer was Joan Whisnant.

A few invited guests were present besides the students and faculty. Miss Whisnant, from what we understand, was filling an engagement in Stamford and had some time left and was sent to Hamlin for a short introductory, perhaps as a pre-program that she may put on here in the future.

All right, let's tell you what this Editor saw and heard.

It was truly a show that none of us had ever seen before, and perhaps there are not many in all the world like this young woman. The program starts off this way:

The young lady was introduced by the Superintendent, and she appeared, accompanied by Miss Ethel Marie St. Clair as her assistant. She is normal in every respect except that there are no arms. Just two ruffles on the shoulders. She wore pink satin slacks and her general personality was very happy and charming.

She introduced herself by going to a table where there was a telephone. She lifted the receiver just as easily and gracefully as one with two good hands. She began talking to an Editor giving him a sketch of herself. She was born in Tulsa, Oklahoma, in 1923. Nature failed to include any arms whatsoever. She said they tell it that when she was a mere baby she had a way of kicking about with her feet, especially using the left foot to fight with and to grasp things. She says, "You have heard and seen left-handed folk and now you are talking to what is perhaps the only left-footed person in all the world."

Now you would be surprised to see how gracefully Joan Whisnant gets her left foot high as her head, almost uncannily. The telephone conversation ended; she rang a bell and her attendant came in with a platter containing a bottle drink and a small stem water glass. The attendant lifted the top and the left foot poured the liquid and three times she lifted it to her mouth.

Next she cut paper dolls (she said not for herself but for the young lady helper). We will tell you why later. She does not play with dolls any more. But wait a minute. She told the imaginary editor over the telephone, that she entered school at the age of six, carried on all the activities of school and graduated like any other girl.

There is one striking thing about this girl: She wears shoes but never any stockings. (She got a break there). O yes, she wears a wrist (?) watch, or bracelet. You see a young woman with no arms still loves to look pretty, so she demonstrated how she combs her hair, dolls up her face, and general primping. That left foot certainly gets about. Now all this action does not look bad. The foot gets about very much like a left arm. The bottom of the slack leg looks very much like a sleeve.

Miss Whisnant showed that one does not need fingers to play a steel guitar. She played very beautifully three numbers. While at school she took art and had two samples of dress designing. An easel stood on the rostrum and she gave three crayon pictures. After each one was done that left foot reached up and daintily lifted one corner of the paper and snapped it off. Once a drawing fell to the floor but she grabbed it up and handed it to the attendant. The drawings were a

Hamlin Schools Enroll A Total of 745 Pupils

Seven hundred forty-five pupils are enrolled in the Hamlin public schools. Three hundred twenty-five are in the High school and four hundred twenty are in the Elementary school. One extra grade has been received from Wise Chapel as they are teaching nine grades there, instead of the usual ten. Four extra grades have been contracted from the Plasterco district. This makes eight grades we are receiving from Plasterco. In addition, we are, as in the past, contracting all the grades from the Carlton district, all the grades from the South Side district, and the High school grades from Neinda, Dovie, Boyd Chapel, Bethel, part of Tuxedo, and the eleventh and twelfth grades from Swedonia.

cartoon, and two landscapes. This closed the program, except that she wrote on the paper, "The end, Joan". Applause was liberal, especially when the young lady cut out the sailor-boy dolls.

At the end of the program, after the curtain fell, the mother was introduced, and then another person was presented. Gosh, it was the husband, Mr. Bennett told in his introductory that she was married, but this editor failed to hear that part, or misunderstood. Gosh, think about a fellow with a wife without arms!

If this young lady returns to Hamlin, you ought to see and hear her.

Baptist Revival Meeting Is Progressing Nicely

This article is written on Wednesday. Our revival which began Sunday, is progressing nicely. Our revival minister, Rev. Aubrey Short, and our singer, Rev. Finis Williams, are already winning their way into the hearts of our people with their earnest messages. They have been heard in the High school, Grammar school, Lions Club, and Rotary Club as well as in our services.

One unusual thing about this revival is the interest being manifested in an early morning service for young people. At 9:20 A. M. many of the High school students drop by the church for just a few minutes of prayer and devotion. Bro. Short will bring short messages to them each morning the rest of the revival.

We urge all who will to attend as many of these services as possible. Our morning service is at 10:00 A. M.; our evening service at 8:30.

This

AND A LITTLE BIT OF

THE WAR—

As We See It,

Well sir, last week this part of the Herald did not have a thing about the war.

But folks did you know there is a war going on? Did you?

There are a lot of things any observer might say this week.

First, when you think the Japs have been licked, you have another think coming. Those little devils must be killed slick as a ball-headed politician before we can claim they have been licked.

It seems that the government is afraid the folks back home will flinch and stampeed if they get a little bad news. For example, the aircraft carrier Yorktown is just now being officially reported as lost at Midway. That was in June.

Again the American people are becoming impatient. They have plenty right to be. This nation, along with England is letting Russia down. Why talk of a second front when there is not going to be one this fall. Maybe the generals and admirals and leaders think it will be cheaper to let 'em freeze to death than to fight 'em before winter. Maybe Our Nations can fight better when they think an eminent defeat is near or when it looks like the jig is up. Maybe it will be a greater victory over Germany to wait till she has laid waste Russia and shifts her hordes back into Western Europe.

There's something crazy about letting Russia die between the Caspian and the Black Seas. Maybe they are waiting for old Rommel to get well and recuperate his forces before driving him completely out of Africa. That would be more glory instead of keeping on pushing his gangsters back till their legs come off.

How do you view the whole matter? You have your idea, and we bet a hole in a doughnut that it is as crazy as ours.

There's the Madagascar affair. Did anyone ever hear of such crazy people as the "Foolish French?" Instead of quietly surrendering to England, who is trying to and will be the chief country to restore their freedom, they have been killing Englishmen and blowing up their own bridges. Maybe Old Hitler told them to do that. But today they are surrendering. England and the United States do not want Madagascar but we are darn sure not going to let Japan get it.

There are a lot of things going on at home that are about as dangedous as the Japs, and the Germans on the battlefield. One thing that makes us "seasick" and want to act that way, is to hear a report of the war front and then the announcer turn to baseball. Do you imagine they are playing baseball in Russia, in England, in Alaska, on the Solomons, and in New Guinea? Maybe the big baseball huskies need some of the mothers of soldiers on the battle fields to express their contempt for their play-boy entertainment of the people who have nothing to do but sit and look and yell. If manpower is needed why let a bunch of ball players waste so much of it?

We have reached a sensitive point in the conduct of this war. One can not act and talk just any way any more. When we all know that our men are facing terrible suffering and death and there is no time for tom-foolery.

Congress comes in for a lot more criticism these days. We wonder just why they were so anxious to grant the voting privilege to our soldiers? Just why? Did the soldiers care about that right? We bet another doughnut hole that they don't give a hang for but one thing back home . . . that is to get enough equipment and manpower help to finish this thing quicker than a snow ball melts in Haiti. The soldier merits everything that will help win the war. They know darn well that mere voting for something or somebody ten thousand miles from them means about as much in this fight as a whistle of a canary bird or something else. If America is to fight and fight for years in a terrible war, it will be because back home folks kept on trying to play war instead of laying aside making money, holding on to normalcy and quibbling over a ten cents salary raise, and whether or not a carpenter or a roofer is to lay a shelter over an army camp.

Soldiers away "out yonder" can't imagine a bunch of fellows back home being allowed to strike while the army is crying for material and men on the front lines.

There is talk about an "All Service law". That would mean the freezing of all men right where they now labor or idle away their time till they are called to do something for winning the war. If the Germans crush Russia, and take the Middle East, if Japan gets into India, and invades Siberia, then the time will come in this nation when "What do I get, how long do I work or how much will you pay me for this or that, and I can't afford to stop this or that to help there," such stuff will not be found in the dictionary. But it will be "work till you fall, ask no questions, don't expect pay," and so on. That is what Hitler tells his countrymen, and the conquered nations. That's why we have got to fight.

All of the surprises of Hitler and Japan are not yet known. The most terrible days will come when they feel their chances slipping. Then what will they care for treaties, agreements and future impressions?

Yes, war is a terrible thing. It is all the more terrible today because this nation hesitated for more than two years to declare war after England stepped in to help distressed nations hold their freedom.

Anybody who craves war is a fool, but he is a bigger fool to sit still and whine and fiddle when reason speaks that danger is just over the hill. Today there are but three nations strong enough to fight Germany, Italy and Japan combined — England, Russia and the United States, and all of these sat still, almost, for ten years while the enemy nations were building secret implements of war. Now it is our task to catch up and excel till we can go onto a hundred fronts and smother them with our machines and superior manpower. Yes, it IS terrible, but more so if we do not do it.

The home front is so important. So important till some of the big congressmen's loose talk should be censored. There is too much loose talk going on in many quarters and it is not all together in newspaper offices.

We have reason to feel proud of the machine we are fast building. It is far greater than anyone can tell, and when it gets into high speed, the end will come fast except in Japan, where combing of every foot of jungland must be done to rid ourselves of those rats.

—T & T—

We Hope—

We hope Mr. Churchill will get to retain his post of service till the war is won and the peace is agreed upon.

We hope that the Great War will end while Franklin D. Roosevelt is President and that he will get to help dictate the peace.

We hope that when this war draws to a close, the many outraged and helpless nations and all the others as well, will know that our United States did not fight for anything except freedom for ourselves and for them.

We hope that deep in the hearts of all Americans the hatred for war will be so great that a firm stand and resolve will be promulgated to the world that whoever again builds a war machine it will be a sign of was against humanity, and that the United States will be the 1st to hit a blow at such an offender of peace.

We hope that when this war is ended the world will again understand that the United States did not covet anybody's lands or values and no peaceful nation will have any fear of the power that must necessarily be in our hands . . . but that when anybody starts making war ships, and deadly machines, it will mean that the United States will start shooting again . . . that is plain talk and that is what every nation has needed and not so much pussyfooting around nice corners.

This nation does not contemplate hurting anybody, unless we see 'em preparing to come after us.

In about one more year the United States will have the greatest fighting machine the world has ever seen, with the greatest army and navy in all history and on top of all that the fighting spirit of the plain old American boy will dictate the peace and a better one than their daddies did in 1919 . . . WE HOPE. The best way to make hopes come true is to act quickly and with little but plain talk.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

(By BOYCE HOUSE)

From out of the nowhere, all thru life's storms and trials, and to the very threshold of the pearly gates, the home town newspaper carries the individual.

When Doctor Stork deposits six pounds of pink and shrivled cussedness, squalling, at the home of the parents, the home paper assumes its helpful watchfulness over the newborn babe's destiny by adding four pounds and making him "a fine, bouncing ten-pound boy".

When he reaches manhood and wanders from the old nest and, thru the influence of his Uncle George, gets a job driving a bus for the Insect Inn at Bingville, the old home paper comes through and puts him in "a lucrative position of trust".

And when he persuades some misguided female to share his miserable fortune, the home paper describes him as "a sterling young business man, brave and handsome".

Then when middle age has thinned his hair and put his waist line in the lead, the home paper trashes the dandruff off his coat, obscures the tobacco juice on his shirt front and makes him "a substantial citizen".

When politics gets into his system and he tries to get elected to the legislature, he is again made over by the same cheerful agency from the ordinary bonehead, he is transformed into "a friend of the people, whose statesmanlike qualities commend him to the thoughtful consideration of the voters."

And finally when his worthless old carcass is ready to return from whence it came and Satan stands smiling, ready to receive the sinning soul, the home paper throws its last bluff and tries to sneak him past St. Peter with the choicest collection of fairy tales to which his career has given rise. On the off chance that he might run across a copy, it even tries to palliate the miseries of the hereafter by having his relieved and rejoicing widow "prostrate with grief".

Dear old home paper, cheerful, hopeful, old liar that you are. How commonplace most of us would be, were it not for the great, big, charitable heart that guides you.

And did you hear about the Indian chief who ordered a ham sandwich at a soda fountain? He lifted the slices of bread and then said to the attendant, "Ugh! You slice 'em ham?" The other replied, "Yes, I sliced the ham". The chief grunted, "Ugh! You darn near miss 'em".

Why should anyone buy War Bonds? There is no compulsion to buy them. There is no winter relief . . . no SS man standing outside the door saying "Buy, or else". Nothing is at stake but the future of the country . . . perhaps of the World.

What then is a stamp or bond but a vote of confidence in ourselves? In our capacity to drive on, to break an opposition and then to reconstruct upon a new and better design a world that will be different. A world of surplus instead of one of scarcity. But a bond is more than this. It is an investment. It is some thing of a miracle that freedom can be bought and that in addition it should pay a dividend of almost 3 per cent. And this is not all, bonds stand between us and the spiral of inflation which could engulf us more easily than any enemy outside our gates. For the first time in many years, demand backed by money exceeds supply, which normally equals demand, and even stimulates it by advertising and credit purchase plans. Are we to save money against the time when we may need it, or bid for the few consumer goods that are left against ourselves?

There is one more reason for buying bonds. The President, who is also the commander in chief, has asked us to do so.

Meanwhile . . . while we hesitate . . . while we complain of nominal hardships . . . men die . . . not only fighting men, but women and small children also. They die for a good cause. A good reason . . . for freedom. But we who are not dying must pay in time and money, or we shall find ourselves dishonored. The time is short. It passes . . . and having passed, is forever lost.

Men in France, in Poland, in Norway . . . men all over Europe, are regretting time . . . are saying, "If only we had known".

But we do know. The writing is on the wall. Corregidor, Pearl Harbor, Singapore, Dunkirk, are not dreams. They are evil things that have happened, and now this evil approaches us. It lies in wait off our coasts.

Time is money . . . but money will not buy time, nor bring dead men to life, nor purchase freedom once it is lost.

That is why we must buy bonds now . . . today, and tomorrow, and the day after. Buy bonds until this thing is destroyed utterly . . . because time is not subject to manipulation . . . because the past is dead and the future mortgaged . . . because the world cannot live half free and half slave. Nor we, the free, allow the mortgage upon our freedom to be foreclosed. Failing now, we fail forever. Never before could so much be bought for so little. Never so much lost for lack of that little.

LETTERS FROM INDIA:

There is one old Hamlin boy having a hot time over in India. He is Harvey Elkins, a metal worker who started for India early last spring and took sick with the yellow jaundice and was tied up in hospitals for about thirty days. Now "Old Harvey" has him a bicycle and is going places every time he gets a chance. We have scanned three letters, one dated Aug. 13, another Aug. 21, and Aug. 27. He speaks of the weather like we do in West Texas. "It was hot it rained and it rained." He said "Politics is something we can't talk about but there is nothing to worry about. The American soldiers are sitting good with these natives. This is a God-saken country and I'll be glad when I come out of it. This country is not a fit place for a white man to live in." Harvey says, "I have over 620 Rupees or about $186 and will draw 300 more, and it is the first time in my life I have more money than I know what to do with." He says "This is a wonderful country to visit, but since I have seen some of it I am ready to give it back to the Indians". And about pictures, "Nearly all of my friends have bought bicycles and we travel around sightseeing and taking pictures." Harvey sent a lot of hot looking pictures showing him and pals handling little kids (goats) and monkeys, riding something like a camel, natives handling snakes, and a lot of other funny things. Harvey says, "This country is 100 years behind us." Well, any way, we are glad to hear from any Hamlin boy in such outlandish foreign fields, especially to know they are well and ready to fight to end the thing and come home.

Max B. Carlton wrote to his mother August 18 that he is O. K. Max is on one of our greatest cruisers and one that was feared lost in a certain battle. The letter was a great relief to his parents, for the silence of what had happened was increasing their worry. Max is on the Pacific.

Ensign Ray Willingham, Jr., of Rule and a real Hamlin boy, after spending a 23 days leave at home, left last Friday for San Francisco to take up patrol duty on the Pacific. Ray received his commission August 24 at Pensacola, Fla. After about 10 months in the service. We may soon hear of Ensign Willingham flying over some parts of the Pacific where his work will count. The Herald will be one of 100 Jones County men to give any Hamlin boy $10.00 for sinking a Jap sub or any sizeable warship.

Mrs. George Beavers has a grandson, Joe B. Williams, who writes his mother, Mrs. Nettie Williams of Waco, from somewhere in England,

Among some things he wrote about he said, "You ask about entertainment; well, there is plenty to do on my day off. Sometimes I go to (blank) to a dance, and just about everything in general. You see (blank) is the closest to an American town I have found yet. Some parts remind me of home (Dallas). The time before last I went to (blank) to a movie. I saw Jack Benny and Carol Lombard in "To Be or Not To Be". It was really swell. It was the first American movie I had seen in five months. It was good to hear an American talk for a change. I can't understand half of what the people are talking about half of the time here. You ask if I can use things. I could use cigarettes candy and stamps."

This young man is in Headquarters Squadron Air Service. Mrs. Williams was visiting with her mother here when she received the letter from England.

At Two-bits A Dozen

Our 1942 Taxes Would Blast Adolf, et al.,
With 55,200,000 Bullets Like These!

Bullets, not politics or words, will win this war. Bullets, guns, tanks, planes, and ships. These are all items that can't be just talked into existence—they must be MADE. And it takes MONEY and unselfish work.

Money, real man power—and ample electric power.

To make and use these weapons, men must be trained.

In all the categories vital to the war effort, this company is taking an important part. As for MONEY—our payment in 1942 taxes will total not less than $1,150,000... enough to buy 55,200,000 bullets at the Army's specified price of 25 cents a dozen. The company has bought $50,000 in war bonds. Its employees are buying bonds in a united, organized program.

As for MAN POWER, a total of 122 men from this company are already in the armed forces where their experience and training in business, electrical engineering and distribution service has been of inestimable value to Uncle Sam. Twenty-one of them already commissioned officers... one lieutenant colonel, six majors, four captains, nine lieutenants, and one ensign.

Both, money and man power, are things which are being given... must be given... by every West Texan, every American. These are contributions which each man, woman and child can make to the Victory cause.

As for ELECTRIC POWER—it's a job for specialists. Today we can be thankful that America has men in non-political enterprises who can deliver the goods—with surpluses!

America's electric companies, now under business management and FREE of Hitlerian political control and threats of the concentration camp, are providing more POWER than Hitler can command in ALL the Nazified countries combined!

This is one factor on which hinges the final outcome of the war. With the wealth of this nation, its resources and man power, a victory for the United Nations is inevitable.

We can all look forward to a future made even brighter by electric service in a land where people are free to plan and create enterprises that build and serve!

This letter just received from a War Mother:

Hamlin, Texas, Sept. 14, 1942

Dear Mr. Darden:

We the parents of boys in the service want you to know that we appreciate the stand you take and it means a lot to us War Mothers who are putting forth our feeble efforts to defend our boys' rights, back our government when in the right and to see that justice is meted out to every one. Thanking you, Signed, Mrs. D. W. Carlton

NOTE: Thanks, Mrs. Carlton, for your kind expression, and it is a pleasure as well as a duty to have a part in defense of the rights of our boys. Our Commander-in-Chief must have the co-operation of us all and I am sure the mothers of our boys will play a large part in winning the gigantic struggle in which we are all involved.

Signed, Geo. Darden
O-O-O

A large number of the parents and students met at the schoolhouse last Monday night for the purpose of determining whether or not the McCaulley school would have a lunch room this year. After a good program and new teachers were introduced, Supt. Powers discussed in detail about a lunch room for the school, after which the audience was given an opportunity to express their opinion about said lunch room. A motion was made to vote on the proposition and the entire crowd voted for a lunch room. As we have predicted before, if ever the citizens were given an opportunity to vote for or against a lunch room we were of the opinion that McCaulley would vote for the lunch room. It was pointed out in the discussion that there was one town in Fisher county which started a lunch room in their school but it did not prove satisfactory and the service was discontinued, but on the other hand there are other towns in Fisher county which are very much pleased with their lunch rooms and we see no reason why our school should be denied this service. You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink—and if we get the lunch room and you don't like it, then you don't have to eat.

THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW

Gas Well Drilling Halted

Further drilling of gas wells in the Hugoton gas field in Kansas and Oklahoma has been halted, except where specific authorization is given by WPB. More than twenty wells have been drilled in the Hugoton field which are not being produced. The order will have the effect of requiring connection of these wells to pipelines, so that use of critical materials to drill additional wells will be unnecessary.

Sometimes the finest kind of command of the English language is complete silence.
